Email Filtering

Unlike any other provider on the market THUNDERMAIL offers remote Antivirus and SPAM filtering that removes 99.9% of all unwanted email traffic. This additional suite of “Bolt on” services comes as standard with all our mailbox plans.

The core of ThunderMail is its distributed data centers sitting directly on the Internet backbone. Each data center contains fault-tolerant servers that are load-balanced from site to site and from server to server. In the unlikely event that one data center is unavailable traffic can be easily routed to another data center, almost irradiating the chances of service interruption. Using sophisticated algorithms Microsoft Forefront security analyzes and route message traffic across the network to help ensure the secure and timely delivery of your email.

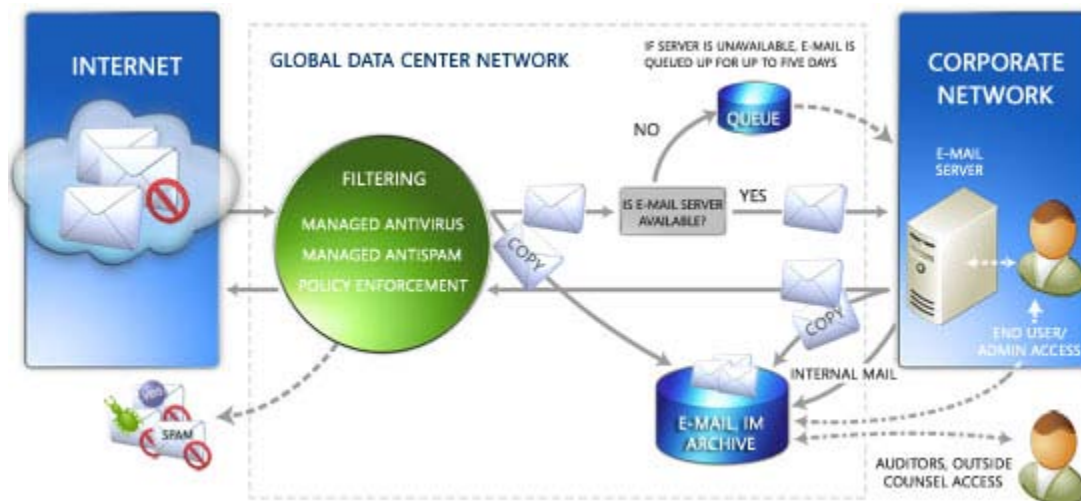

Archiving Service

The need to keep hold of company correspondence must soon become a way of life even for the smallest of businesses as more and more email communications are being used for legal discovery and evidence. Laws are being put into place to govern the length of time this information is retained, how it should be kept and when it should be reviewed. ThunderMail Archive Service allows you to create policies that mitigate the risk and help you to store your information in a way that can be retrieved without fuss or expense.

- Virus & SPAM free archiving
- No up front capital investment
- Seamless integration for all hosted exchange customers
- Seamless integration for all NON hosted exchange customers too

How it works

The service is deployed over the internet so it requires no up front capital investment or on site integration. As a message passes through the network (either internal or external) it is backed up within your mailstore then copied into a security enhanced archiving repository. In addition, a comprehensive text indexing service and flexible search queries through the Outlook client allow the user to search stored messages by header, subject line, message body, and over 200 attachment file types.

Once archived they can be easily accessed through your standard Outlook interface to locate messages quickly and once found, restore, forward via email or tag for review later.
